

THE BOUNDARY

Between Venezuela and the British Possessions.

AWARD OF THE COMMISSION

Which has been in Session in Paris for Some Months Past—The Decision is in the Nature of a Compromise—The Text of the Verdict Rendered by the Tribunal.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—By the decision of the Anglo-Venezuelan boundary arbitration commission, some of Great Britain's claims as to the interior and on the coast are disallowed. Her frontier will start at the Waini river.

The award was unanimous. It is considered in the nature of a compromise rather than as favoring Venezuela. It was read at 12:05 p. m.

The decision, which was read by M. F. De Martens, the umpire, who has presided over the deliberations of the tribunal is as follows:

"The undersigned, by these presents, give and publish our decision determining and judging touching and concerning the questions that have been submitted to us by said arbitration, and, in conformity with said arbitration, we decide, declare and pronounce definitely that the line of frontier of the colony of British Guiana and the United States of Venezuela is as follows:

"Starting on the coast at Point Playa, the frontier shall follow a straight line to the confluence of the Barima and the Maruma, thence following the Thalweg of the latter to the source of the Corentin, otherwise called the Cutari river.

"Thence it shall proceed to the confluence of the Haliowa and the Amakuru; thence, following the Thalweg of the Amakuru to its source in the plain of Imataka; thence, in a southwesterly direction, along the highest ridge of the Imataka mountains to the highest point of the Imataka chain, opposite the source of the Barima and the principal chain of the Imataka mountains; thence in a southwest direction to the source of the Acarabisi.

"Following the Thalweg of the Acarabisi to the Cuyuni, the northern bank of which it shall follow in a westerly direction to the confluence of the Cuyuni and the Vanamu, thence along the Thalweg of the Vanamu to its westernmost source, thence in a straight line to the summit of Mount Roraima, thence to the source of the Cotigira.

"From this point the frontier shall follow the Thalweg of the Cotigira to its confluence with the Takuta; thence along the Thalweg of the Takuta to its source; thence in a straight line to the most western point of the Akarai mountains, the highest ridge of which it shall follow to the source of the Corentin, whence it will follow the course of the river."

BIGELOW'S BUGLE

Sounds a Very Discordant Note in regard to the United States at International Geographical Congress.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—At to-day's session of the international geographical congress, and in the presence of a distinguished audience, including many officials and other government officials, Poulton Bigelow discussed "Colonial Administration in Different Parts of the World." The paper was received with marked favor.

Mr. Bigelow said that this year, memorable for the international peace conference at The Hague, whose noble purpose it had been to make war less frequent and less brutal would be none the less gratefully remembered for the supplementary work of peace entrusted to the great geographical congress of Berlin. It had taken centuries of business and bloodshed to reach the state of comparative civilization now enjoyed by the world. We were just beginning to realize that what interested one interested all, and that in colonial matters the most important condition to-day was unity among the whites, whether English, French or German.

"In the far east," continued Mr. Bigelow, "the United States has now become a rival of Europe through the occupation of Manila. Americans and Europeans are next door neighbors to Hong Kong, and are almost equally interested in the projected railway terminating at Kiao-Chow. In common with Germany, however, the United States has experience yet to purchase, and from observations made during the war I fear my country is learning her lesson at an extravagant price.

"The United States has officially commenced the government of a tropical empire under conditions which make it probable that the Americans will repeat the blunders which the Englishmen corrected a century ago. The Philippines disliked Spanish rule, they dislike Yankee rule even more. Nor is this to be wondered at. Methods successful against American Indians and against negroes are not found successful in the Philippines, nor do they attract such a high-spirited race, such as inhabit the Philippines.

"The curse of America to-day is that her politicians and newspapers stand in fear of the mob. Any one who dares to criticize the wisdom of mob-inspired machinery is howled at as unpatriotic. If not as a traitor. The war fever has gone to the brain of the American mob, especially that section of the mob which did not go to the war. Consequently the colonial operations of the United States are marked by great haste in preparation, by frequent changes of plan, by reckless expenditure of life and money, and by a lamentable failure to fulfill the reasonable anticipations of the merchant class, who are, after all, the best judges of colonial administration.

"The American has been a magnificent colonist, in so far as his task has consisted in hunting out the red Indian and administering territory for the white man only; but he has not yet succeeded in more than the extermination of an inferior race. The enormous liberty he claims for himself becomes ridiculous when shared with the red man, the negro or the Chinaman."

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A dispatch to the World from London says: It is learned on reliable authority that Ben Parker, commander of the Emperor William's yacht Meteor, is now in New York incognito. He sailed from here on the liner New York on her last trip, travelling under an assumed name, and landed last Saturday. He is expected to carefully conceal himself from the other passengers. Just what his purpose is cannot be stated, but the surmise is that he will advise with the captains of the Shamrock and give the benefit of his wide experience as one of Europe's best known and most successful sailing masters.

Captain Parker's trip to America is made without the formal consent of Emperor William, since Captain Parker is not officially absent from his post of duty with the emperor.

BELLAIRE HAPPENINGS.

Matters of Interest in the Metropolis of Belmont County

Judge J. W. Hollingsworth, in common pleas court yesterday, gave out his decision in the injunction proceedings brought against the new electric light company here, and held that under the law council did not have authority to grant a franchise without first submitting the question to a vote of the people. This makes quite a predicament in Bellaire at present, but time will unravel it without serious difficulty, no doubt. A former council, about twenty years ago, was enjoined from proceeding with some of its intentions, and the town got along nicely, so that these proceedings are not harmful in the long run. They give the people a chance to think for themselves, and they usually round up all right.

The glassworkers employed in the Crystal glass works, principally Bellaire workers, have selected the following officers for Local Union No. 99: James Rosser, president; John Minkemyer, vice president; D. J. McGrail, corresponding secretary; Harry E. Cauley, financial secretary; John Labay, treasurer; Louis Pracht, inspector; Thomas Lynskey, inside guard; Henry Moore, outside guard; Patrick McGee, trustee.

The colored voters got together in city hall Monday night and organized by electing Capt. J. C. Nickel president, E. D. Miller secretary and Granville Jacobs treasurer. They appointed a committee in each ward to look after the interests of the colored voters. They feel that they have been properly recognized in the city and county, and they want recognition, and declare they will vote for their own interests or abstain from voting.

The Young Men's Club has finally taken rooms in the third story of the First National Bank building, and the boys are to be fixed up in good style in their new quarters. The rooms will be newly papered and carpeted, and they have taken in a number of business men as honorary members to encourage the permanency of the club.

Mrs. Sarah Kerns was knocked down by a bicycle ridden by Joseph Heatherington, on Gravel Hill, yesterday, and in falling her hat pin inflicted an ugly wound on her head, in addition to the shock she sustained.

Justice Morrell had a charge of highway robbery to hear yesterday, but when the time came, the prosecuting witness was not to be found, and the case went over.

The Gravel Hill Literary and Social Club will meet at the home of Dr. J. S. McClellan and wife to-morrow evening. This will be the first meeting of this fall.

Mayor Freeze and Marshal Johnston were both at St. Clairsville yesterday on cases that were taken up from the local court.

Three Doctors in Consultation.

From Benjamin Franklin. "When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place; what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason (i. e., theory) says is best is to be chosen in the last place. But if you can get Dr. Inclinatum, Dr. Experience and Dr. Reason to hold a consultation together, they will give you the best advice that can be taken."

When you have a bad cold Dr. Inclinatum would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experience would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition.
